DAUGHTER OF
DR. HUNTINGTON
HERE TO-DAY

Coming to Boston on one of the swiftest trains from New York today is Miss Margaret W. Huntington, daughter of the Rev. Dr. W. R. Huntington, pastor of Grace Church, New York, who is dying at the home of his son-in-law in Nahant.

Miss Huntington will probably reach Nahant late this afternoon. The favorite daughter of the noted clergyman, who has seldom been away from his side, began her race against death in Europe, when cable messages told her that her father was dying. She was just about to begin a continental tour of Europe. She hurried to England. She arrived in Liverpool in time to board a Lusitania a few minutes before 11 o'clock. When the steamship docked, today an automobile was waiting for her on the pier, and after she had entered the machine raced at full speed to the Grand Central station. There she boarded a train for Boston.
